Are you a new international graduate or professional student at Yale? If you’re wondering where to begin on this new journey, then you’ve come to the right place! During this panel, current international graduate and professional students will share the experiences they had as first-time graduate students at Yale. Topics of discussion will include the academic culture at Yale, adapting to life in America, overcoming language/writing issues, and carving a social life for yourself while enrolled in a full-time academic program. Students will share their tricks and tips, resources, and stories of challenge & success while at Yale. Snacks will be served (of course)! Please register in order to attend.

Source URL: https://oiss.yale.edu/calendar/events/first-year-gp-international-experience-panel