Saturday, September 8, 2018 - 11:00am to 2:00pm

Come to the the Connecticut Folk Festival & Green Expo in New Haven's beautiful Edgerton Park. We'll meet at OISS and walk up the East Rock neighborhood to the park together. There will be live music, activities for children, food trucks, and special exhibitions about the environment and sustainability. It is about a 20 minute walk from OISS to the park. You can buy your lunch at a food truck and stay and listen to music all day! It is an easy walk to get back to Yale going down Whitney Avenue, and attendees may leave whenever they like. The festival continues into the evening as well with the more famous musicians performing later in the evening. What to bring: small folding chairs or a picnic blanket and good walking shoes. Note: A fun way to connect with other Yalies and New Haven neighbors is to volunteer for the event. Please contact Nicole here if you are interested in volunteering.
