New Haven is full of hidden treasures, and the Farmington Canal Trail is one of our favorites!

Join us for a walking tour along the Farmington Canal Trail led by Aaron Goode, a committee member of Walk New Haven. During this walk, we will explore the canal's origins in the 1820s to its time as a railroad serving the massive Winchester Repeating Arms gun factory, all the way to its emergence in the 1990s as a multi-use trail and critical link in the 2700-mile East Coast Greenway, known as the “Urban Appalachian Trail.”

We will visit a site on the Connecticut Freedom Trail (celebrating African-American history), community gardens and greenspaces, and three murals including the impressive Mothers, Daughters, & Sisters Of The Firelight mural by artist Kwadwo Adae (who’s art is also now proudly displayed in the OISS).

The walk will take approximately 1.5 hours and is about 2 miles in length. We will end with an optional walk back to Fussy Coffee where you can enjoy some of their famous fries and good company.

Note: Free, but please register to attend. Open to the Yale Community.
