This week's #humansofoiss features the OISS Armadillo ("Dillo" for short) from Costa Rica. He is a mischievous staff member whose favorite thing to do is hide around the office and surprise the OISS staff.

Dillo is a Sagittarius and an ISFP. He grew up in Costa Rica and now lives at OISS. He has a Bachelor's degree in Bigfoot Hunting and a Master's degree in Extraterrestrial Conspiracy Theories, both from the Yale School of Cryptozoology.

He is terrified of Handsome Dan (but hopes to get to know the bulldog better) and thinks Heidi has a nice vibe. Dillo often dons an assortment of miniature hats to express his emotions.

Your best chance to spot Dillo in his natural habitat is during walk-in hours at OISS on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. "Dillo" is only a placeholder name, so please comment below what you think his official name should be!
