O-1 Eligibility Criteria

USCIS requires that your scholarly achievements meet at least three of the eight categories listed below. The requirement is not only to document these achievements but also be able to demonstrate your achievements are extraordinary with national and international recognition.

O-1: Three of Eight Eligibility Categories

Authorship

Evidence of authorship of published professional journals or other media in the field.

Note: It is important to have the published material written by others be able to demonstrate your achievements are extraordinary with national and international recognition.

Evidence of published material written by others

Evidence of published material in professional or major trade publications, newspapers or other major media about the beneficiary and the beneficiary's work in the field.

Note: This includes not only sole reviews of your work but also in the form of 'highlights/editorial/commentary' in premier journals. Citations in book chapters can be used. Demonstrating an abundance of citation in journals or fewer ones in very high impact factored journals can also satisfy this criteria. (Science, Cell, Nature)

Judge of others

Evidence of participation either on a panel or individually, as a judge of the work of others in the same or in a field of specialization.

Note: Includes peer review for academic journals/grant proposals/conference proceedings/book/conference selection committee.

Original Scholarly Research Contributions

Evidence of original scientific, scholarly or business-related contributions of major significance in the field.

Note: This includes achievements that do not fit into any other category. Approved Patents, submissions of protein structures in national databases, letters of recommendation, invited talks at conferences, conference posters/abstracts can be used to prove ‘Original Scholarly Research’.

Recipient of Prizes

Evidence of receipt of nationally or internationally recognized prizes or awards for excellence in the field.

Note: This category has very high standards. (e.g.; Fields Medal, Pulitzer prize, MacArthur prize, etc.)

Outstanding Memberships

Evidence of membership in associations in the field for which classification is sought which require outstanding achievements, as judged by recognized national or international standards.

Note: Includes fellowship, membership, and leadership positions in national associations with significant membership criteria.
international experts in the field.

Note: One good example would be membership in ‘National Academy of Science’. Membership based solely on level of education, years, or annual dues do not meet the required standard.

Employment Status

Employment in a critical or essential capacity for organizations and establishments with a distinguished reputation.

Salary

A high salary or other remuneration for services as evidenced by contracts or other reliable evidence.
