Details

For the academic year 2021-2022, OISS is seeking a graduate fellow to work on diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) initiatives in an ongoing effort to ensure that our office is providing our international community with the support and resources they need.

Fellow Responsibilities

The Graduate Fellow will assist OISS in developing DEI resources and programs for our international community. This would include, but would not be limited to:

- Developing two programs/workshops (in-person or virtual) per semester. These programs might focus on topics such as:
  - Critical terms, concepts and context of DEI initiatives at Yale and across the U.S.
  - Navigating personal identities such as race, gender, and sexuality in the U.S.;
  - U.S. history of systemic racism, class structures, and privileged identities;
- Research and curate DEI resources for the OISS website, social media, pre-arrival materials, and newsletters.
- Engage with international students, scholars, and family members to assess needs and implement new initiatives

What You Will Gain

- Experience working with a large international community from all around the world
- Inter-office communications skills
- Web editing and content curation skills
- Planning, marketing, and implementation of an event

Required Background and Preferred Qualifications

- Ability to work independently and to collaborate with colleagues to see a project through from start to finish in a virtual environment
- Excellent communication skills, including intercultural sensitivity, a positive outlook, and a lot of patience.
- Proficiency with the entire Microsoft Office Suite, familiarity with web editing software, and experience with social media and marketing.
- Experience with video editing and graphic design software is a plus.
- Related experience with diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives
