Travel Restrictions From U.S. Government

Travelers from China

On January 31, 2020, President Trump published a Presidential Proclamation [1] restricting certain individuals from entering the U.S. from China. The details of how this will be enforced are still being analyzed, and OISS will post updates as we learn new facts. At present it appears the restriction effects many groups including international students and scholars on F, J and H visas at Yale. You can read details and report travel delays to OISS here. [2]

Travel Ban 4.0

Also on January 31st the Trump administration expanded its travel ban to immigrants (not international students and scholars) from six additional countries. Read details here. [2]
