Yale Mourns the Loss of Mochen Liao

March 10, 2021

This week we join the Yale community in mourning the loss of Mochen Liao, a first-year Ph.D. student at Yale School of the Environment (YSE). He arrived at Yale this fall, joining the Yale community after earning his master’s degree in Forest Biomaterials at North Carolina State University. His research at Yale in the Center for Industrial Ecology centered on better understanding and improving the sustainability implications of industrial processes. His death is a tragic loss for the Yale community.

On Thursday, March 11 at 8 PM, there will be a virtual vigil [1] for Mochen. All are invited to join for sharing, listening, grieving, and being together.

YSE has also set up a virtual tribute wall [2] for anyone who wants to share their memories of Mochen. Please know that we continue to be here to support you and grieve alongside you. Please contact the OISS team [3] if you have questions or need additional support.

If you need support, please reach out to the resources listed below.

- Yale Mental Health & Counseling [4]
- Chaplain’s Office [5]
- Grieving Wall [6]
- Grief Resources [7]
- LiveSafe App [8]

Source URL: https://oiss.yale.edu/news/yale-mourns-the-loss-of-mochen-liao

Links:
[2] https://campuspress.yale.edu/mochenliao/
[3] https://oiss.yale.edu/about/connect-with-oiss
[5] https://chaplain.yale.edu/
[6] https://chaplain.yale.edu/submit-remembrance
[7] https://chaplain.yale.edu/grief-resources