Job search got you down? Does the process seem too vague? Yale's Office of Career Strategy [1] is here to help with their new podcast – Take This Job And Love It! [2]

The OCS team and featured guests tackle an array of topics relevant to any job/internship search process. Gain helpful insight through these low key, relaxed conversations where they acknowledge common frustrations but also provide thoughtful advice on how to rise above it all. These conversations can be helpful to those seeking their first internship/job, seeking a job with an advanced degree, or making a career change at any point in your career!

The first 2 episodes are available now! New episodes will be released once every 2 weeks. Listen and subscribe via Apple Podcasts [3], Spotify [4], Stitcher [5], and Soundcloud [6].
